

Pottery Activity

Mr. Mathew, the pottery teacher has trained the Smithies in working with clay. In Laidlaw, pottery class is a new art work for children and that has improved their motor skills and boosted their self-esteem. As clay is easy to handle for small fingers, Smithies enjoy working with it. Over the years, Smithies have learnt to manipulate the clay and have also discovered that their hands are powerful tools.

So, this activity was a great chance and easy going task for the Smithies to prove their skills. This activity which took place on the last week of September had a trend. The trend to work with clay to make different animals from various countries. Smithies became fascinated by clay and focused on a single masterpiece. The soothing qualities of the medium kept them engaged while their imagination takes over.

Looking at the end result, each child's clay work was beautifully carved into different animals and was very authentic. Thanks to the pottery teacher who has worked extremely well with the Smithies. A fabulous pottery work by the Smithies!
