“Oh! They have schools for children where they study books. The children have so much to do. They read, write, draw and colour to become better and better, day by day. What do we do the whole day long? Nothing! ... Oh! Nothing at all. Everything is so easy with the magic wand.”

So, Samy and Susie went to the Fairy Godmother and told her that they wanted to visit the human world. Fairy Godmother was shocked to hear this. But she said, “I will take you to the earth and you will see how difficult life is over there.”

The next morning, Fairy Godmother took Susie and Samy to a home where they did the vanishing act. They could see everybody but nobody could see them. In this house lived Mrs and Mr Mag and their son Chan, a boy of 12 years. He could manage all his school work without taking any help from his mother who worked in an office. He would come home, warm up the delicious meal cooked by his mother, have it and rest for a while. Then it was tennis, swimming and studies. But one day, the fairies heard him say, “Oh! Mummy. I wish I had a magic wand to do my homework, to teach me everything by uttering a magic spell. Life in the fairyland must be so easy.” 15

2. To this his mother replied, “But that life is not interesting. Everything comes to you easily. When you work hard you get rewards, every achievement makes you so proud and happy.” To this the boy replied, “I guess you are right. We are best fitted into our lives and we should not crave for what we don’t have.” 20

Susie and Samy realised the importance of working hard.
